

THEO THEORY — ONE PAGE CRUISE GUIDE

How the Adult Arcade Rates Your Play

What Is Theo?

Theo = Theoretical Loss. It is the cruise line's math score that measures how you play — not what you win or lose. Theo determines perks, offers, your arcade rating, and future invitations.

How Theo Is Calculated

Theo is based on three factors only:

- 1) Time Played – how long you actively play.
- 2) Average Bet – your consistent bet amount.
- 3) House Edge – the built-in advantage of the game.

Theo is NOT based on wins, losses, jackpots, lucky streaks, or bad nights. It measures behavior, not outcome.

Why People Get Confused

You can lose $600 and still receive no perks if your Theo is low. Common causes include short sessions, machine hopping, big bet swings, and too many breaks. Theo rewards consistency — not chaos.

How to Build a Better Theo

- Stay on 1–2 machines.
- Keep bets consistent.
- Play longer, cleaner sessions.
- Minimize hopping and big bet swings.
- Create consistent play patterns.

When You Receive Rewards

Perks are given once per cruise, usually toward the end, based on your total Theo, your tier for that sailing, and the arcade's comp structure.
